WALL STREET STOCKS GAIN 2 TO NEARLY 5 POINTS IN QUIET TRADE

Share Prices Snap Back Quickly After Previous Day's Brief Decline — Sales Exceed 900,000 Shares.

RADIO STOCK IS ACTIVE AND UP

U. S. Steel and American
Can Advance 3 Points
Each — General Electric and American Telephone Rise 2 or More.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Share prices snapped back quickly in today's market, after yesterday's brief setback, and an underlying indication to be bullish was again in evidence in speculative quarters. A long list of important shares rose 2 to nearly five points each. Total sales exceeded 900,000 shares.

The market has worked irregularly higher for three weeks without any signs of the materializing of the dire predictions recently emanating from the bear camp. Commission house comment, however, still remains of a cautious and confused character. One says that the only conservative policy is to remain on the sidelines; another that the market acts better than for a long while. And still another says the outlook remains obscure.

Radio Is Strong.
The week-end business news as a whole could hardly be interpreted as bullish. But nothing very impressive can be expected at this period of summer lull. Large oil companies on the Pacific Coast announced cessation of the gasoline price-cutting war, removing one source of unsettlement, and the monthly building statistics bore out optimistic forecasts. F. W. Dodge placed contracts let in June east of the Rockies at $600,573,400, compared with $529,891,000 in June.

Radio Corporation was active and strong, rising more than 2 points to above 32, compared to a recent low of the year at 32 1/2, and a peak during the bull movement which culminated in early March of 69 1/2. Bidding up of this stock was regarded in speculative quarters as in the nature of a greeting on the return from Europe of M. J. Meehan, specialist in the stock during its spectacular rise of the late big bull market.

Steel and Can Rise.
Mercury Chocolate rose more than 4 points. Reflecting estimates of 1930 earnings of about $10 a share, and renewed merger gossip. Vacuum was active and closed up 1/2. This issue is a trading favorite of professionals. In the utility American Water Works made an extreme gain of 5 points.

United States Steel and American Can both gained 3 points, and Westinghouse 4. Shares closing up 3 or more included General Electric, American Telephone, International Harvester and Wrigley, the last reaching a new high. A selling rally in the first hour was of brief duration.

In the commodities, wheat rallied a cent or so, while cotton, recently strong, declined. Corn closed steady to firm.

Foreign exchanges were about steady. An upturn in the Brazilian milreis was a feature.

Stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on pages 7A, 8A and 9A.

IT RAINS FISH IN AUSTRALIA

Crabs and Shrimp Drawn From Sea by Whirlwinds.
BRISBANE, Queensland, July 12.—The mystery of rainfalls which fish, crabs and shrimps fall on the farms near Toowoomba, in Southern Queensland, has been explained.

Government authorities have discovered that the summer monsoon storms off the Queensland coast cause huge whirlwinds. Water-puffs are formed and in a natural vacuum water, fish, crabs, seaweed and even young sea birds are sucked into the upper air, to be blown ashore and deposited with the rain.

THREE MEN HELD, CONFESS $50,000 CONFIDENCE GAME

Cartage Depot Scheme Operated in Iowa, Indiana and Illinois.
CHICAGO, July 12.—Three men arrested yesterday confessed, police said, to operating a $50,000 confidence game in Iowa, Indiana and Illinois. They are Thomas J. Lane; his brother, Charles; and Marcelus Moriarty, all of Chicago. Their method, investigators said, was to establish an office and interest prospective victims in the establishment of cartage depots. They would then obtain deposits or payments for which their victims would receive a truck and share in the cartage terminal system profits. Persons complaining said they had contributed $100 to $1500.

CONCENTRATION

The Post-Dispatch alone carried 45 columns more than the Globe-Democrat, The Star and The Times Added TOGETHER.

Nineteen additional deaths superinduced by the extreme heat, which entered its fourth day of 100 degree temperatures today, were reported in the city, with 35 additional cases of heat prostration treated at City Hospital yesterday afternoon. Eleven deaths were reported in the suburbs. The total number of such deaths in the last week is 55.

Yesterday's high mark of 104.2 degrees at 4 o'clock set a record for July that has not been equaled in the last 29 years. A reading of 105 degrees, however, was reached on Aug. 4, 1918. The season of 1901, which set all records with a mark of 107 on July 22, of that year, was the hottest summer in the history of the local Weather Bureau.

Promises of relief were made by the Weather Bureau in a forecast which said that a "moderate but appreciable lowering of temperature" was to be expected in the next 24 hours, with good chances for thundershowers from the west and southwest. Low-pressure areas are developing in the northern Mississippi valley states, with the expectation that the temperature generally would be greatly improved.

Today's heat made a bid of equaling that of the last three days when the thermometer showed a reading of 101 at 1 p. m. An increased circulation of air and a lower humidity made the heat more endurable than yesterday.

Seeking relief from the oppressive temperatures inside dwelling houses last night, hundreds of persons went out on lawns and into the parks to sleep. Swimming pools, air-cooled theaters and movie cars were used by many who stayed out until late to avoid the extreme temperatures, which went into the 90-degree range several times during the night.

Water consumption in the city yesterday established a new high record, as has been the case each day since Monday. Yesterday 192,316,950 gallons were used. On the day before 189,123,260 gallons were used.

A request for co-operation in conserving the water supply was made by Mayor James H. Thompson, who said the daily excess of 70,000,000 gallons above normal probably included a great deal of water, principally that due to letting lawn hose and sprinklers run during the night, not materially bettering the heat situation and actually increasing the humidity in the special location. No actual shortage of water is anticipated, he said, but the use of large amounts, by lowering the pressure in the mains, makes the event of a large fire particularly hazardous.

HOOPER'S REFUSAL TO GIVE SENATE "THE PAPERS" AIDS OPPONENTS

President's Action Not Only Antagonizes Progressives, but Costs Treaty Votes of Two Democrats—Pittman and Thomas.

RESERVATION BY NORRIS OFFERED

Resolution Provides for Ratification With "Distinct Understanding That It Carries No Concealed Commitments."

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Administration forces working for the ratification of the London naval treaty have been made uneasy by the signs of growing opposition based on the President's continued refusal formally to submit the so-called "secret papers."

Immediately after the receipt late yesterday of the President's message, in which he held that compliance with the Senate's request for the papers would be "incompatible with the public interest," Senator Norris, Progressive Republican, Nebraska, introduced a reservation which he had framed in anticipation of the President's action.

The reservation, which is in the form of a resolution, sets out that, inasmuch as the President has declined to send to the Senate the full file of papers touching the negotiation of the treaty and the Senate has been compelled to act on it without full knowledge of what these papers contain, the Senate, therefore, ratifies the treaty "with the distinct and explicit understanding that it carries no concealed commitments, and that there is no secret agreement between any of the parties as to the construction of any provision."

Norris held that, since the President had declined to send the documents in question, the Senate's only course was to specify that such documents did not affect the meaning of the treaty. His reservation, he explained, was simply an affirmation of the President's own statement that the papers had no material bearing on the treaty.

Similar views were expressed by other members of the Republican independent group and by several Democrats.

Assault on the President.

Senators Reed of Pennsylvania and Allen of Kansas, Republican leaders of the pro-treaty forces, declared that the Norris reservation, in view of the President's positive denial of any secret commitments, was an affront to the executive. They pointed out, moreover, as did the President in his message, that the documents already are available for inspection by any Senator in confidence.

Opponents of the treaty, as well as some who have been friendly to it, expressed the view that the Senate would demean itself if it should take "lying down" to the President's flouting of a constitutional prerogative of the Senate.

It was incumbent on the President, they said, to submit the papers without exacting a pledge in advance that they would be held confidential. If the President wanted them kept secret, and would say so, these Senators had no doubt that the Senate would observe his wishes. They pointed out that the McKellar resolution, as amended, gave the President the opportunity to recommend secrecy. "Why," they asked in effect, "should the President be willing to trust Senators individually, by offering them the papers in confidence through Senator Reed, and not be willing to trust them collectively?"

Threaten to Oppose Pact.

Senator Norris, La Follette, Wisconsin, and others who had intended to vote for the treaty threatened to come out against it if the Norris reservation were not accepted. Their attitude heartened the Johnson oppositionist group and led to the prediction in some quarters that the special session would be forced into a recess without ratification of the treaty.

The President's refusal to send the documents not only antagonized the Norris-La Follette group but also, according to Senate leaders, definitely cost the treaty the votes of two Democrats—Pittman and Thomas.

ESTATE OF H. S. PRIEST GOES TO 4 CHILDREN

Estimated at $500,000, Will Provides $5000 for Widow Who Had Received $30,000

The will of former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest, filed today for probate, distributed the bulk of his estate equally among his four children: Mrs. Mabel C. Priest, who is 77, Mrs. William Grayson and Mrs. Thomas Bond.

Tentative estimates place the estate at about $500,000. A $5000 bequest was made, by prenuptial agreement, to Judge Priest's widow, Mrs. Mabel C. Priest, who is 77, during his lifetime. The will stipulated that $25,000 insurance, of which Mrs. Bond was beneficiary, is to be deducted from her share.

Keepsakes, chiefly jewelry, were bequeathed to Judge Priest's daughter, Robert E. Maloney, and members of the family. Faithful servants were remembered with a $2000 bequest for Miss Nellie Hutchinson of San Diego, Cal., a former housekeeper, and Edwin Henderson, a Negro, Judge Priest's butler for 25 years, who also is to receive a diamond and sapphire pin.

Good-will and fixtures of the law office, and its extensive library, were left to Mincey and George T. Priest. They and C. A. Fikes were named executors without bond. The will was made three years ago.

Judge Priest, a distinguished lawyer and an outstanding prohibitionist of State or Federal prohibition, died of a heart attack Wednesday night at his home, 4320 Westminister place. He was 77 years old.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED WHEN MOTOR BOAT UPSSETS; 2 SAVED

Three Men and Two Women Victims of Accident on Lake Kachess in the Cascades.
By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., July 12.—Five persons were drowned in Lake Kachess in the Cascades last night after a motor boat overturned. Two were saved.

The dead, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schweighart, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, caretakers of the lodge at Lake Kachess, near Lake Kachess, and a watchman named Hagas, from Easton, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harrigan, caretakers of Snoqualmie Lodge, were rescued.

HEAT KILLING STOCK IN IOWA

Cedar Rapids Reports 121 Horses, Many Hogs, Nine Rabbits Dead. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., July 12.—The intense heat is taking a terrific toll of livestock in this territory. According to reports reaching here today, 75 horses died of the heat in Linn County, 13 in Benton County, 14 near West Liberty, in Johnson County, and 20 in Tama County.

Hog wallows are drying up and many hogs are reported dead. Nine rabbits fell dead on the Fairview Farm at Atkins yesterday.

WOMAN PILOT FAINTS ON ALTITUDE RECORD FLIGHT OF 26,600 FT.

Miss Ruth Alexander Climbs 4600 Ft. More After Becoming Unconscious.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 12.—Miss Ruth Alexander fainted in the cockpit of her tiny monoplane as it soared 26,600 feet above the city of San Diego yesterday.

After regaining consciousness after the plane started to descend and today claims the altitude record for women. The plane's instruments showed that she had bettered by 6600 feet her previous mark of 20,000 feet, set July 4.

In relating her experience she said she became unconscious when the altimeter showed 22,000 feet, her plane continuing to climb more than 4000 feet.

"The last thing I noticed was 22,000 feet," said Miss Alexander. "My oxygen was pretty low and I was still climbing. When I looked at my altimeter again it showed 18,000 feet. My oxygen was gone. Then I realized that I had been unconscious."

The girl brought her 30-horsepower, low-winged monoplane to a safe landing. She was still dazed when attendants lifted her from the plane.

CAPTAIN OBJECTS TO PILOT, TAKES LEVIATHAN IN ALONE

Rejects Substitue for Man Who Has Performed That Service at New York 13 Years.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 12.—The steamer Leviathan came into port today for the fifth time without taking on a pilot, as is required by the State of New York except under special conditions. Commodore Harold A. Cunningham, her commander, announced that he would continue to bring the ship in himself until a pilot whom he considered competent was assigned to him.

At least 60 persons are thought to have lost their lives. It was said that all on the car had drowned except three who were rescued. Bodies of 53 persons, including five women have been taken out.

SOUSA HURT IN FALL ON SHIP

Band Master's Head Gashed as Liner From Europe Is Docking. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 12.—John Philip Sousa, famous band master, returning from Europe, slipped on a companionway of the Leviathan as the liner was docking this morning and was rendered semi-unconscious by the fall. Four stitches were taken to close a gash above his ear. Sousa was carried to the ship's hospital and quickly revived.

When the surgical treatment was completed, Sousa attended to his debarkation as if nothing had happened. He is 76 years old.

ATTIC DWELLER FREED BY LEGAL TECHNICALITY

Found Guilty of Manslaughter, Otto Sanhuber Is Saved by Statute of Limitations.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—Through a legal technicality, Otto Sanhuber was free today, although convicted of slaying Fred Oesterreich, wealthy Milwaukee manufacturer, in his home eight years ago.

A jury found Sanhuber guilty of manslaughter instead of murder, and thereby gave him his liberty. Yesterday the court ruled that the verdict must be set aside on the ground the statute of limitations for manslaughter is three years.

For more than 10 years, Sanhuber had lived in small attics in the Oesterreich homes here and in Milwaukee, as the clandestine sweetheart of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich.

One evening, Sanhuber told the grand jury which indicted him, Oesterreich quarreled with his wife. Sanhuber testified he crept from his attic and shot Oesterreich, as he feared Mrs. Oesterreich was being injured. This confession he repudiated during his trial for murder.

The case was revived when Herman Shapiro, former attorney for Mrs. Oesterreich, disclosed the existence of the attic dweller. The woman still faces trial.

53 DROWNED WHEN STREET CAR PLUNGES INTO RIVER

Trolley Runs Off Bridge in Buenos Aires; Three Passengers Rescued.

By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—A trolley car loaded with passengers plunged through an open canal over a bridge into the Riacho river this forenoon.

At least 60 persons are thought to have lost their lives. It was said that all on the car had drowned except three who were rescued. Bodies of 53 persons, including five women have been taken out.

$1,000,000 Loss in Fire in Paris.

PARIS, July 12.—Three firemen were injured last night in fighting one of the biggest fires in the city in recent years. A large boulevard department store, Novelles Galeries, was destroyed in the blaze which spread with such rapidity that all the firemen in the city could not extinguish it. Damage was estimated at about $1,000,000. The origin was undetermined.

AIR ESCORT MEETS HIS PLANE ON ARRIVAL

Capt. McKinley, Ensign Mulroy and Lieut. Lofgren of Antarctic Expedition Share Honors With Their Chief in Reception.

"ST. LOUIS MOST AIR-MINDED CITY"

Explorer Praises Its Noted Aviators — He Will Attend Municipal Opera Tonight and Return to New York Tomorrow.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, accompanied by the two St. Louis members of his polar exploration party into Antarctica, rode through the streets of downtown St. Louis this afternoon to the cheers and applause of thousands of men and women who had turned out to welcome a national hero in spite of the Saturday half holiday and the temperature of more than 100 degrees.

The explorer arrived from Chicago by airplane at Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport at 9:40 o'clock this morning, the guest of St. Louis for the day. Before noon, he had dedicated the $2,000,000 airport, had turned the first shovel of earth at the site of the new Naval Reserve hangar, and had been driven to Hotel Jefferson for a Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

Tonight he will attend a buffet supper and reception given at the University Club by alumni of his two schools, Virginia Military Institute and the United States Naval Academy, and will visit the Municipal Opera. He will depart by train tomorrow morning and will arrive in New York Monday.

Parade From Hotel Jefferson. In the parade, which began at 2 o'clock at Hotel Jefferson and moved east on Washington avenue to Broadway, south to Olive street, and west to Fourteenth street, Admiral Byrd rode with Mayor Miller in the first official car. In other cars rode the two St. Louis members of the South Polar expedition, Capt. Ashley McKinley, photographer, and Ensign Thomas B. Mulroy, chief engineer.

A public interest of course, centered on Admiral Byrd, who responded modestly to the greetings from the spectators, rising at crowded intersections to salute cheering groups. As spectators crowded around his car, he shook every proffered hand.

When the parade got under way several hundred men and women were crowded about the Twelfth boulevard entrance of Hotel Jefferson eager to catch a glimpse of the explorer and his companions as they moved to the official cars.

A detachment of mounted police, the American Legion color guard, the Sixth Infantry Band, C. M. T. C. and regular army units from Jefferson Barracks, the 138th National Guard Regiment and a detachment of Naval Reserves formed the first section of the parade.

Spectators Favor Shady Side. Along Washington avenue, the majority of the spectators clung to the shady south side of the street except at the intersections of Ninth street and Broadway where the crowds were particularly dense and enthusiastic in their welcome. Many spectators hung from the windows of buildings along the line of march while on the sidewalks it was estimated that women and girls outnumbered the men three to one.

Turning into Broadway, the Admiral rose to salute a man who had shouted a yell of welcome and at the Reimann's Bank Building was met by a shower of ticker tape, the only demonstration of that kind during the parade.

U. S. BOARD SELLS 2,000,000 BU. OF WHEAT IN STORAGE

Grain Disposed of Under Previous Agreement Because of Lack of Elevator Space.

KANSAS CITY FIRM
BUYS 350,000 BU.

Price Is 82 Cents — Deal
Made Despite Announced Policy Not to Compete With New Crop.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—Officers of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, a Federal Farm Board agency, announced today that moderate quantities of wheat stored with Kansas City mills under a special plan when the Farm Board was purchasing wheat in its campaign to stabilize the price for last year's crop had been disposed of this week at current market prices. The wheat, stored under what was termed the A and B plan, was said to comprise only a small portion of the Government-owned wheat. The sales were reported to be about 2,000,000 bushels. The Kansas flour mills announced the purchase of 350,000 bushels yesterday at about 82 cents a bushel. Sale of the wheat was reported to have been necessary because of lack of storage space. The grain was purchased by the Stabilization Corporation this season, and through an arrangement with millers was placed in their elevators with the understanding it would be moved out by July 10. The millers had the privilege of buying the grain and exercising this option.

Other Wheat Moved Out.
Mills that did not take over Government-owned wheat in their bins received shipping directions and the grain was moved out. Local officials of the Grain Stabilization Corporation said that other wheat owned by the corporation, which is in contracted storage, was not being sold.

Grain men so far were inclined to interpret the action as a reversal of the policy on the part of the Farm Board, which has announced several times recently that the 1929 wheat held by the Government would not be sold in competition with the new crop.

Spokesmen for the corporation pointed out that the board already was under obligation to sell wheat stored under the A and B plan by a certain date or else move it out.

Kansas Governor Protests Against U. S. Sale of Wheat.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 12.—Declaring his belief that wheat sold to Kansas City millers "broke the market today," Gov. Clyde M. Reed, in a telegram to Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board, protested "against this unwise and un sound policy" and asked that "it be stopped at once."

Reed also asked the Farm Board chairman for "unqualified assurance as to what the future policy of the Farm Board will be with regard to its holdings of wheat, which in your addresses in Kansas you repeatedly stated would not be sold in competition with the new crop now coming in."

Sale of the grain from last year's crop was executed, Reed said in his telegram, "with millions of bushels from this year's crop, the best milling wheat Kansas ever harvested, available in the elevators at Kansas City."

"I do not question your personal good faith in this matter, and doubtless it was done without your knowledge, but the effect upon the wheat market and the price the grower can realize from this year's crop is just the same."

Legge Stands Pat on Statement on Kansas Wheat.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—Kansas was still "the biggest hog lying in the trough" today as far as Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, was concerned. And Legge was still chairman of the Farm Board.

The figure of speech used by the chairman in his controversy with Gov. Clyde M. Reed of Kansas over the board's proposal that wheat growers limit acreage, yesterday aroused the ire of Max M. and Louis Levand, publishers of the Wichita (Kan.) Beacon.

The Levand brothers called on Legge to retract what they said was an insult to 1,850,000 Kansans and then resign. All of which brought forth from Legge the statement:

"You may present my compliments to Max and Louise and please tell them to go to hell."

Gov. Reed appeared at Kansas points jointly with Chairman Legge and Secretary of Agriculture Henry D. Ickes during their present tour of the wheat states in the interests of limited production. His outspoken opposition to their views, Chairman Legge accused, was due to political reasons.

"The expression I used is one we farmers understand," Legge explained. "I said, 'The biggest hog will always lie in the trough.' Kansas is the largest wheat producing state and I'm sure my listeners took the idea I was conveying, that Gov. Reed is putting Kansas in that position."

St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Gifts to Byrd and Aids

GIFTS to be presented by the Chamber of Commerce to the noted explorer and associates to commemorate their visit to St. Louis, include a small silver plate, to be presented to Byrd in commemoration of the Lambert-St. Louis airport dedication; a large silver platter, to be given to Byrd; a clock, to be presented to Capt. Ashley McKinley and Ensign Thomas B. Mulroy, both of St. Louis. The clocks are heavy bronze and, in addition to striking the ships bell, they contain a weather barometer.

Byrd Gives Test of a Man At Luncheon in His Honor

Go to Antarctic With Him if You Must Really Know Him, Explorer Says at Hotel Jefferson.

Smiling, Rear Admiral Byrd faced 1200 persons who crowded into the Gold Room at Hotel Jefferson for the luncheon in his honor at noon today, and said: "To really know a man you've got to go on an Antarctic expedition with him."

"You may think you know him in civilization," he continued, "but you never will, until you've seen him in great hardships, through a spell of four or five months of terrible monotony, where if he isn't sound and doesn't take the proper care, queer things may happen to his mind. Then you know him, and not until then."

Admiral Byrd, in his tight white-and-gold uniform spotless, his graying hair in crisp waves from the heat, turned first to the left and then to the right, to face the two St. Louis members of his south polar expedition to whom he was paying tribute.

To the left was Ensign Thomas B. Mulroy, an old associate of Byrd, so old in fact that he still calls him "Commander" instead of the higher title which became Byrd's when he flew across the South Pole. Mulroy, also in naval whites and looking somewhat wild, stared straight ahead, apparently embarrassed at the turn his superior's address was taking.

To the right sat Capt. Ashley McKinley, photographer and third in the command on the expedition. He wore an army flying uniform with open lapels and appeared to be the coolest of the visitors.

Then Admiral Byrd recalled that Ensign Mulroy was fuel engineer of his North Pole flight, ground engineer of Byrd's flight across the Atlantic and, on the Antarctic trip, chief engineer of the bark City of New York and chief fuel engineer of the entire expedition.

"It was a lucky day for me when I met him," Admiral Byrd said. "I am greatly indebted to St. Louis for producing Tom Mulroy."

Praises Capt. McKinley.
When he spoke of Capt. McKinley, an affection greater than that of a superior officer for an able and likable subordinate was apparent in Admiral Byrd's tones.

"If you knew him as I know him," he said, "you'd be awfully fond of him. You know, it's pretty hard to do, we'd rather cuss each other than talk this way, we never have spoke like this before."

At this point he glanced at the khaki-clad officer and both laughed embarrassedly while the spectators chuckled. When silence came again, the moment had passed. Admiral Byrd began talking about Mrs. McKinley and Mrs. Mulroy who remained at home while their husbands struggled with the dangers of the Antarctic, half a world away.

But Admiral Byrd returned a few minutes later to the subject of the army officer second in command.

"He was in command for three months," the Admiral said, "when I was preoccupied with the flights, and Dr. Gould, the second, was in the mountains with a dog team. I hope never to start on another one without him, but I'm afraid that statement will get me in wrong with Mrs. McKinley."

He sat down, while the guests rose to their feet and clapped and cheered and Capt. McKinley looked uncomfortable and, at the same time, exceedingly happy.

Capt. McKinley had preceded Admiral Byrd in speaking and made it plain that, although coming home from the Antarctic was very fine, coming home with his superior officer was about the finest thing he could imagine.

great deal more to me than anything else."

Ensign Mulroy, black-haired and red of face from exposure to cold of both poles, spoke briefly: "I was just thinking," he remarked, "how I'd like to have some of that ice and cold weather we cursed to thoroughly last year. Thank you all for the wonderful reception you've given us. I can't tell you how glad we are to be back."

Lieut. Charles E. Lofgren, personnel officer of the expedition, now Byrd's personal secretary, was first of the visitors to speak. He was introduced by Walter B. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, with the words: "Swede must creep."

"This decorated dining room," said Lieut. Lofgren, "these lights, the food, the flowers and the pretty women, remind me of our life down in the Antarctic. It's so different."

Lieut. Lofgren was presented a silver cigarette case, Ensign Mulroy and Capt. McKinley received bronze nautical clocks and barometers, and Admiral Byrd an engraved sterling silver tray.

What One Man Missed Most.
Admiral Byrd spoke at no great length about the events of the expedition, but he did say: "Our physicist, Taffy Davies, was sorry he couldn't get here. Not at all. I asked him the other day what he missed most down in Antarctica, and his answer was 'Temptation.'"

He was glad to come to St. Louis and dedicate the $2,000,000 Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport. Byrd, however, for the following reasons:

"St. Louis is the home town of my friend Col. Lindbergh, who has done so much for aviation. I believe there will be no more active field than Lambert Field. Because I've always admired Maj. Lambert, who is the dean of aviation. Because St. Louis is the best air-minded city in the country. Because it has the most air-minded Chamber of Commerce in the country."

"But the biggest reason of all is because it is the home of two of my best friends, my comrades, Capt. McKinley and Ensign Mulroy."

The things that Count.
At another point in his talk, Admiral Byrd said: "I had 10,000 applications to go on the Antarctic expedition. Ability isn't the prime consideration in such an undertaking. The things that count most are courage, character and loyalty. It was necessary to investigate people before they could be accepted or rejected. There was only one man I selected in one minute on his looks. That was Capt. McKinley, and I want to tell you I wasn't mistaken."

Near the end of the address, Admiral Byrd, who was standing in the center of the speakers' table, before three microphones, looked at the table in front of him, and two chairs away, and said: "You know I wrote some notes on the tablecloth to help me and now the notes are over there and I'm over here."

Mentions Guests' "Heroism."
The luncheoners laughed while Admiral Byrd leaned over and read them. They all pertained to the heat and the "heroism" of the guests in coming out into such a blast to help welcome the St. Louis members of the expedition.

Byrd spoke easily and gracefully, without a manuscript or notes other than those scribbled on the tablecloth. When he was presented with the silver tray, he examined it and said:

"It's one of the most beautiful things I've ever seen. I want to express my deepest appreciation and assure you it will occupy a place of honor in my home. And if anyone from St. Louis ever comes to visit us, I will use it to serve—I guess I've got to say 'lemonade.'"

Representative of the feeling his men have for the Admiral was the statement of Mulroy in a chat with reporters preceding the luncheon. "Well, I'll tell you," Mulroy said, in response to a question, "I think he's one of the swiftest men I ever saw, and one of the best leaders. We'd all go through hell and fire for him."

The ensign like Capt. McKinley, was partially disrobed at the time, after the blazing heat of the sun at the dedication. "I'll tell you," he repeated, setting down a glass, "he's such an easy fellow to get along with. Not foolish about discipline or anything. You can say to him, 'Aw, rats, Admiral,' and he doesn't think anything of it. But the other day, after we got back, we met one of the old line Admirals and he said something to me and I told him, 'Aw, rats, Admiral.' You ought to have seen him bristle up. But Commander Byrd isn't like that. Not at all."

Ensign Mulroy was full of plans for the next Antarctic expedition, which Admiral Byrd plans to start in 1932. Capt. McKinley listened, it seemed, wistfully to the plans until a reporter asked him if he was planning to go again. Then he ran out of the room, shouting:

"You're going to get me in awful Dutch with my wife if you ask me questions like that."

Those seated at the head table with Admiral Byrd and his associates were: M. E. Holderness, toastmaster; W. B. Weisenburger, Mayor Miller, Albert Bond Lambert, Major-General Fechet, Harold M. Bixby, L. W. Childress, Stanley Clarke, Harry L. Salisbury, J. Gates Williams, R. B. Brooks, Fred W. Pape, former Mayor Kiel, Col. J. A. Faglow, Col. E. Whitworth, E. M. Irwin, Charles E. Michel, Robert E. Lee, M. E. Meacham, Harry Scullin, Walter J. G. Neun, Chief of Police Gerk, Erastus Wells, Thomas N. Dymart, L. H. Egan, John Ring Jr., Col. Stephen E. Lowe, J. T. Muench, Capt. G. P. Schuler, E. B. Meisner, E. B. Pryor, C. F. G. Meyer, Luther E. Smith, J. L. Davis, Wood Northland, O. L. Parks, J. N. Cornatzer, A. O. Wilson, Lieut. J. B. Cooke, R. L. Lund, Sidney Maestre, A. S. TESTIMONY THAT MAFIA KILLS THE RELATIVES OF ITS VICTIMS

SCACCA, Sicily, July 12.—Witnesses at the trials of 241 members of the Sicilian Mafia Society testified yesterday that the Mafia decided to kill a man in order to preserve its secrets but not only murdered the man but, through fear of revenge, all his near relatives, too.

Stephen Genova told the court his brothers, Salvatore, Rosario and Liborio, were all killed because he was trying to find the murders of his friend, Azzo. He said the murderers were the Locascio brothers, who are on trial.

Capt. McKinley and Ensign Mulroy will remain in the city several days visiting their relatives.

About 2000 persons witnessed the arrival of the Byrd party from Chicago, where a demonstration in their honor was held yesterday, and a reception at the airport.

A dirigible from Scott Field was circling over the crowd when the Ford tri-motored monoplane bearing the visitors, similar to the ship in which Admiral Byrd flew over the South Pole, appeared from the northwest.

Escort of Planes.
Six planes of the National Guard unit had met the silver monoplane 40 miles north of St. Louis, to escort it to the field. They came in eight, three on each side of the Byrd ship.

Members of the reception committee, photographers and reporters rushed up to the monoplane as it landed. Capt. McKinley, in khaki uniform, was the first to alight. Directly behind him were Ensign Mulroy and Admiral Byrd, in naval whites.

Admiral Byrd recognized several acquaintances in the crowd and said: "Hello, I didn't expect to see you here."

"Warmer Than Antarctic."
Then, smiling, he remarked, "Well, it's a bit warmer than in the Antarctic."

This Is Compared to 14.9
Per Cent for the Whole Country in 1920 and 21
Per Cent in 1910.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—With 26 states and the District of Columbia tabulated in the 1930 census, the population increase of this group has climbed to 16.7 per cent, as compared with 14.9 per cent for the whole country in 1920 and 21.6 per cent for the 1910-1920 decade. The states thus far completed represent less than half of the country's total population.

The total population of these states now is 64,911,065, an increase of 1,829,142 people in 10 years. The largest increase has been made in California, with a growth of 44.6 per cent. The second largest increase was in Michigan, where it was 21.3 per cent. Both of these states have passed Massachusetts in rank.

Then came his several other overruns in the rankings of the states. Tennessee has passed Kentucky, Minnesota and Iowa. Minnesota has passed Iowa. Rhode Island has passed North Dakota and the District of Columbia has gone above New Hampshire.

Population of the states thus far compiled by the Associated Press from the official preliminary returns of the supervisors in the various states, with their percentage of increase and their rank in 1920, follow:

State	1930	1920	% Inc.	Rank
California	3,892,282	2,673,176	44.6	31
Michigan	2,812,771	2,316,713	21.3	21

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 12.
SOME foreign nations seem alarmed at our increases of duties on imports. Such alarm is not justified. On the whole the increases are moderate and generally intended only to equalize the difference between foreign and domestic costs of production.

It ought to be remembered that following all the recent increases in tariff rates have come large increases in imports. The only exception was due apparently to the Spanish War, but a year later large increases began. For over a generation each protective tariff has changed the basis but enlarged the markets for imports. Of course some lines may have been injured and others compelled to come in on a rate more fair to United States standards of wages and living. This is not saying the new tariffs promoted or retarded the increases. But the fact is higher rates did not decrease the former imports.

The most reasonable explanation seems to be that protection encouraged business and a more prosperous people bought more goods abroad. Instead of being disturbed at the tariff, foreign nations should know that our general imports will be large so long as our business is good.

tonight will be informal. A spotlight will be played on the Admiral when he arrives and he will be asked to make a short address to the audience. After the opera, the party will return to Hotel Statler for the night.

An invitation was extended to Admiral Byrd to return to St. Louis Nov. 14 for the first local showing of his private motion picture record of the expedition. The invitation was tendered by the Girl Scout organization, which wants the proceeds of the show to go to their campaign for funds to establish a permanent summer camp.

Then turning to a Chamber of Commerce official, he said: "I have just one favor to ask."

"Surely, Admiral, what is it?"

"Let Capt. McKinley ride in the first car with me."

He was told that Capt. McKinley would do so, but the Captain had already entered car No. 2, which bore his name. Other members of the party entered automobiles and were driven to the southwestern part of the field where Admiral Byrd turned the first shovel of earth for the Naval Reserve hangar.

Also in the plane from Chicago were Mrs. McKinley, Lieut. Lofgren, Harold M. Bixby, former president of the Chamber of Commerce; Walter B. Weisenburger, present president; A. G. Mungness and George Marklin, chamber publicity representatives, and Willis B. Haviland, a representative of Universal Division, American Airways, Inc., which furnished the plane. Haviland was at Anacostia Naval Station with Admiral Byrd shortly after the World War.

Up at 6:30.

On the trip from Chicago, Admiral Byrd said little, members of the party told reporters, explaining he had not retired until after midnight and had been called at 5:30 to be in time for the 6:45 take-off for St. Louis.

The foundation ceremony over the Byrd party was driven to the rear door of the control building at the field, where Field Manager Parks had prepared 20 gallons of cold lemonade for them. After a moment or two, they walked out of the rear door onto the platform, and while the band played "Dixie" approached the dedicatory plaque covered with purple velvet.

The crowd, women in thin dresses, men coatless, and many equipped with sun glasses to protect their eyes from the glare reflected by the concrete taxi apron, cheered lustily.

Admiral Byrd took a seat at the edge of the platform beside Mayor Miller and was besieged by eager men and women seeking his autograph. He cheerfully responded to all requests and busily signed books, magazines and scraps of paper while the Mayor, as master of ceremonies, opened the exercises.

Director of Public Welfare Saltsbury spoke briefly, presenting plans for the Army and Naval Reserve hangars, after which Maj. Albert Bond Lambert praised the work of Capt. McKinley and Ensign Mulroy, closing with the presentation of a silver tray to Admiral Byrd from the City of St. Louis.

"This is certainly a warm reception," the Admiral responded. "I think that you are all heroes to come out on such a warm day. It is as much above zero here as it was below zero where we came from." He laughed when a man in the audience shouted, "Don't mention it!"

Byrd paid special tribute to Maj. Lambert, whom he described as "the dean of aviation," to Col. Lindbergh, who "has done more for aviation than any other living man," and to Capt. McKinley, of whom he said: "Without this citizen of St. Louis the expedition could not have completed its mission."

Commenting on the present depression in the aviation industry, he said: "Aviation is in the process of evolution. All evolutionary processes are subject to times of depression. Aviation will recover and forge ahead."

"It is an especial honor to me to dedicate this airport of St. Louis, the most air-minded city in the United States and a city which I am sure will always be one of the most important aviation centers in the country."

Concluding his remarks, he retired quickly to his chair, but Maj. Lambert stepped forward, took his arm and led him to the plaque which Admiral Byrd unveiled at the conclusion of the ceremony.

At Municipal Opera Tonight.
After a rest at Hotel Statler following the parade, Admiral Byrd and his party will go to the University Club for supper and a reception.

of Nevada and Thomas of Oklahoma. Some of the pro-treaty Senators wanted to go on with the debate today, but apprehension that a quorum could not be held led Senator Borah, in charge of the treaty, to move adjournment to 11 a. m. Monday, an hour earlier than usual. This motion was carried.

Except for two or three speeches on the treaty, the "papers" issue took virtually all the first week of the special session. Discussion of the treaty, article by article, as required by the rules, is yet to begin. Senators in charge of the treaty are fearful that the present scant quorum will begin to fade away if action is delayed much longer than the end of next week.

Closure Urged to Force Vote.
Talk of closure to force a vote is being heard. Closure is rarely invoked, and never without extreme reluctance, but some of the treaty champions have indicated that they will seek to use it in an emergency. The whole treaty situation, in short, has become muddled through the injection of the constitutional issue over the "secret papers," and the outcome is uncertain.

The President made it plain in his message that, in his judgment, he has gone as far as he can to satisfy the Senate. He is willing that the papers be examined with confidence, but to supply them without any stipulation to that effect, would be, he holds, "incompatible with the public interest" and a clear breach of international faith.

Byrd Drops Message for "Admiral of Sangamon River Fleet."
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—An improvised parachute, made of half a towel and weighted with a piece of hotel soap, was thrown overboard by Rear Admiral Byrd as his plane flew over Springfield on the way to St. Louis at 5:57 o'clock this morning.

It bore a note to V. Y. Dallman, Editor of the Illinois State Register, who had invited Byrd to stop off here. It was written on Byrd Antarctic expedition stationery, and addressed Dallman as "Admiral" of the "Sangamon River Fleet."

"Cordial greetings as we pass over Springfield," the note read. "to you and all hands of the Sangamon River fleet. We are due in St. Louis at 9:30, therefore can't stop. Mighty sorry, old fellow. Cheerio. (Signed) 'DICK BYRD.'"

TO SEEK LINGLE CONNECTION WITH RACING NEWS RING

Cook County Grand Jury to Investigate Reporter's Rumored Part in Forming Monopoly.

SAID TO BE CAUSE OF ROW WITH CAPONE

'Scarface' Tried to Buy Interest and, When He Failed, Aid Threatened to 'Get' Tribune Man.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 12.—The Cook County Grand Jury is expected to make a thorough inquiry into the connection of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune gangland reporter who was murdered June 9, with the General News Bureau, so-called "trust" which supplies information to 2500 Chicago bookmakers.

The "trust," according to an account of its operations in the Chicago Daily News, is controlled by M. L. (Moe) Annenberg, former circulation manager for the Hearst newspapers and is showing a profit of $1,000,000 a year.

The bureau was started several years ago by Moe Tennes, James Morelock and Horace Argo and they fought for years against bookmakers, police raids, attacks on employees and other forms of violence, as the transmission of racing information was considered to be illegal. The bureau finally won the sanction of the Supreme Court for its contention that it could not prevent its clients from using the information for gambling purposes.

The struggle of the bureau against the police has been with two rivals. The Empire and McFadden services, which sprang up outside of Chicago.

Lingle Credited With Merger. It is charged that Lingle, assisted by Anthony (Red) Kilsane, a gangster, was an agent in a campaign of extermination against these rival agencies which took the form of police raids, bombings and other violence.

The McFadden agency finally went out of business and the Empire Agency obtained an injunction from Federal Judge H. J. Ladd, which forbade the agency from the attacks turned to bookmakers, who used its service and continued until seven months ago when the two were merged, barely it is said, through Lingle's influence. The two bureaus, it was learned, were to operate separately for two years.

Meanwhile three years ago, Tennes sold a half interest in the service to Annenberg who is a brother of Max Annenberg, former circulation manager of the Chicago Tribune and now circulation manager for Liberty, the Tribune weekly, for a price reported to be $553,000. Subsequently Tennes sold the remainder of his interest to two of his nephews named Lewis and Joseph.

It is said that the bureau is attributed to its ability to maintain a monopoly in Chicago through Lingle's connection with police.

'Scarface' Al Capone, gang leader and friend of Lingle, according to reports tried to get an interest in this business. He is said to have ordered Lingle to get an interest for him. When Lingle could not do this Capone and Lingle are said to have had a row and one Capone lieutenant is reported to have made threats to "get" Lingle.

'Scratch Sheet' Holds Out. Lingle's connection with the "scratch sheet" or, as it is known officially the Chicago "Turf Bulletin and Sports Record," also may be investigated. James L. Flannagan is president and John P. Flannagan is vice president. Henry P. Flannagan is secretary, treasurer, managing editor and business manager.

The Flannagans, brothers, formerly were employed in the circulation department of the Chicago Tribune. They left the newspaper some time ago. According to reports, the Flannagans have persistently refused to sell the "scratch sheet" to Moe Annenberg and the "trust."

When the report of Lingle's association with the "scratch sheet" was first printed, some days ago, the Flannagans denied Lingle was a partner. They explained that they had lent him $3,000 some time ago.

The "trust" following the merger attempted to bar the Associated Press from carrying charts from the various race tracks. This move failed and an agreement was made that the Associated Press would supply charts from the various tracks to all the member papers that desired them.

Moe Annenberg, in addition to controlling the General News Bureau is said to control all race news service in New York and other large cities. He owns stock in the Daily Racing Form, and in the Walter and Cecelia Investment Corporation, which also owns stock in the Racing Form. In addition, Annenberg is said to be interested in the American Racing Record.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HUNTER.

WHO recently announced their marriage of a year ago. John Hunter is co-holder of the world's record endurance flight with his brother, Kenneth.

Charles F. Rathbun, member of the Chicago Tribune's legal staff, who is directing the inquiry into the Lingle murder. The Daily News yesterday published a letter intimating that better results would be obtained if the investigation were in charge of someone not connected with any newspaper.

Among the signatures, as carried by the Daily News, were those of Albert R. Brunker, executive chairman of the Civic Safety Commission; Frank J. Loesch, president of the Crime Commission; and Augustus Peabody, president of the Citizens' Association.

These three might make general denials that they had made any suggestion by letter to State's Attorney Swanson against the continued direction of the Lingle inquiry by Rathbun.

Brunker said the letter had been prepared but that it had not been signed. Loesch said he had given Brunker authority to sign his name, but only after being assured that Peabody and Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, already had signed.

The letter said in part: "Without the slightest reflection upon the integrity of the members of the Chicago Tribune law firm, now charged as special State's Attorneys with the duty of discovering the perpetrators of this murder, we are firmly convinced, from the standpoint of public confidence, that the investigation should be conducted by persons who were in no way connected with Lingle, or with the paper upon which he served at the time of his death.

The letter urges the appointment of another prosecutor to whom "we will present the information which we think is readily procurable."

State's Attorney Swanson, having received no such letter as published, declined to comment on its contents except to say he was satisfied with the work being done by Rathbun.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 12.—Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. of Garrison, heretofore one of the strongest dries in Congress, told Republican leaders here last night that he was in favor of a modification of the eighteenth amendment which would give "bottled beer to the working man."

Fish, representing the Twenty-sixth District, came here to speak at a dinner attended by political leaders and candidates. He declared some definite stand on prohibition must be taken by his party this fall, if there is to be any chance of electing a Republican Governor in New York. He proposed a referendum on the question of repeal and modification as the way out.

"Personally," he said, "I stand for modification."

WITNESS AGAINST MOONEY SAYS HE PERJURED SELF

John McDonald, Held in Baltimore, Declares He Saw Bomber for First Time in Courthouse.

CALIFORNIA CAN'T DEMAND HIS RETURN

Gov. Young Indicates He Might Grant Pardon if Repudiation Could Be Heard Officially.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 12.—John McDonald, principal prosecution witness against Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings, serving life sentences for the Preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco in 1916, said today he had perjured himself at the trial and desired to "undo the wrong."

Sought in connection with efforts of the Mooney Defense League to obtain pardons for the two men, McDonald was taken into custody here after being recognized by a neighbor. He was held on a charge of investigation. He was refused his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus today and ordered held pending advice from California.

After his arrest he issued the following statement through an attorney:

"I, John McDonald, aged 58 years, residing in Baltimore City, testified as a witness for the State of California versus Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings. I never saw Mooney until taken to the Hall of Justice in San Francisco and was told by an officer that this is Mooney (pointing him out to me). My testimony in the various cases was untrue and false. I desire to undo the wrong done by me in sending Mooney to prison regardless of personal consequences. The authorities got me to testify that I identified Mooney but this is an absolute falsehood. Five years after the conviction of Mooney and Billings McDonald made an affidavit at Trenton, N. J., in which he said he was not positive of his identification of either. The affidavit was used in an effort to obtain pardons.

In refusing to grant the latest pardon, California has acted against the wishes of the people. Gov. C. Young of California indicated his decision might be reversed if McDonald were produced to repeat his repudiation before the Governor and the Supreme Court.

McDonald's apprehension was brought about through John C. Tauber, who recognized a former boarder in his home when he saw a photograph of the man yesterday. He informed police and accompanied three patrolmen to a luncheon room in North Baltimore where Tauber said McDonald took his meals.

McDonald was not in the restaurant but Tauber saw him on the street nearby shortly afterward and the officers took him into custody after McDonald had admitted his identity. He said he had been working as a telephone operator in a large apartment building.

To Attempt to Return McDonald to California.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The Mooney Defense League announced today it would ask Frank P. Walsh, New York attorney, to induce John McDonald to return here and submit to questioning regarding the statement he made in Baltimore that his testimony against Thomas Mooney was untrue and false.

News of McDonald's statement brought cheers at a meeting of the San Francisco Labor Council last night. The announcement was made at the height of a bitter dispute over resolutions introduced by the Carmen's Union advocating a new campaign for Mooney's release from prison. No definite action was taken.

In Los Angeles, Gov. C. C. Young said: "If it is McDonald who is in jail in Baltimore, and he is sincere in his wish to come to California and tell his story to the proper authorities, I shall expect to see those involved questioned and the truth obtained."

Gov. Young held, in recently denying a pardon to Mooney, that McDonald's affidavit made in Trenton, N. J., confessing he had perjured himself while testifying against Mooney had been unworthy of belief.

FROM PITTSBURG IN FIVE HOURS
A flight from Pittsburgh, Pa., to East St. Louis in five hours and nine minutes, declared by Parks Airport officials to be record time, was made yesterday by Phil DeC. Ball, owner of the St. Louis American League baseball team.

Ball made no particular attempt to set a record. He left Pittsburgh in a Wasp-powered Ryan biplane piloted by Frank T. Dunn, at 8:40 a. m., and arrived at Parks Airport at 1:50 p. m.

WASHED-AIR SYSTEM USED TO KEEP NEW COURTHOUSE COOL

Temperature Thus Kept to Average of 86 Degrees During Heat Wave.

The temperature in most of the new Civil Courts Building has been reduced as much as eight degrees until it averages about 86 in the daytime by an air moistening device which was set in operation yesterday. The device was intended for use principally in the winter as a means to rid the air of dust and other particles gathered by the heating system, it was stated.

During the present hot spell it was found the ventilating system through which air is fanned did not reduce the temperature enough. Looking for a remedy, the chief engineer, Charles White, yesterday turned on the air-washing machinery which forces the air through a curtain of water before it is fanned through the vent flues. Within a short time the air began to cool and court attaches quit thinking about electric fans, with which the building has not been equipped. The principal relief was in the general offices of the Circuit Clerk, transcript room, Sheriff's main office, Probate Court offices, Jury Commissioner and court rooms. But to get better results the windows and doors must be kept closed.

Director of Public Safety Steininger, whose department has charge of city buildings, said the air washer could be used in reducing the temperature, although primarily its purpose is to purify the atmosphere. In the winter the curtain of water, which flows over steam pipes, is heated.

WESTERN GASOLINE PRICE WAR APPARENTLY IS ABOUT TO END
Other Companies Expected to Follow Standard and Shell in Restoring Old Rates.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—With the Standard and Shell oil companies announcing a return to wholesale quotations existing before Pacific Coast dealers began slashing prices, the way was left open for an end to the gasoline war.

Standard's announcement, made last night, said wholesale prices which prevailed June 12 would be restored and retailers would sell at 10 cents a gallon less than the price the company would refuse to sell to any dealer "found guilty" of price cutting. The Shell Co. immediately followed Standard's move.

The Richfield, Union and Associated companies made no statements but their officers intimated they would follow suit.

Prices yesterday ranged from 5 to 12 cents in Seattle; 8 1/2 to 9 1/2 cents in Portland; 8 to 9 cents in Sacramento and Fresno; and 5 1/2 to 7 1/2 cents in Tacoma.

SEEKS RETURN OF SUSPECT IN OVERLAND BANK MURDER
Gov. Caulfield Issues Requisition for James McGauley, Michigan Convict.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12.—Gov. Caulfield yesterday issued a requisition on the Governor of Michigan for the extradition of James McGauley, who is wanted for trial in St. Louis County for the murder of Todd V. Phelps in a bank robbery at Overland Jan. 18, 1928.

McGauley is serving a life sentence in Michigan State prison at Marquette for robbery with a deadly weapon.

St. Louis County authorities encountered a puzzling case in their efforts to solve the robbery of the Overland State Bank and the murder of Phelps, its cashier. They arrested Sylvester Baldwin, a St. Louis County roadhouse proprietor, and on the identification of witnesses he was indicted. Later Lawrence G. Ahrens made a confession in which he named McGauley as one of the slayers and said Baldwin was not involved. It was found that Baldwin strikingly resembled McGauley and, after viewing the latter, the principal witness who had identified Baldwin said he had made a mistake. The charge against Baldwin was dropped and he was released.

F. F. POLLNOW TO BE QUESTIONED ON "PROTECTION"

Fugitive Slot Machine Operator Told Captor $7000 a Week Was Put by for That Purpose.

By the Associated Press.

Fred F. Pollnow, former head of St. Louis slot machine company, who, after evading arrest for 13 months, was placed in the city jail yesterday to serve a six months' sentence for setting up a gambling device, will be taken before Circuit Attorney Miller next week and questioned about a "protection fund" which his company maintained in 1926.

After his arrest in Kansas City Thursday evening, Pollnow told Assistant Circuit Attorney J. E. McLaughlin and a Post-Dispatch reporter that he was willing to tell the grand jury all he knew about the slot machine pool which Jake Katz of Chicago operated in St. Louis in April, 1926, under a temporary restraining order against police interference which former Circuit Judge Anthony F. Miller had issued.

Limitations Statute Intervenes. The Circuit Attorney said he planned to question Pollnow with a view to requesting a grand jury investigation if Pollnow supplied information which would warrant such action. Because more than four years have elapsed since the pool operated, the statute of limitations has run on all possible charges with the exception of corruption in office and bribery.

Pollnow told McLaughlin and the reporter that during the period that slot machines were protected by the restraining order, the Central Vending Machine Co., 3124 Central avenue, of which he was president, set aside between $7000 and $8000 a week for protection.

"Split Two Ways," Pollnow Thinks. "The protection money was given to Katz and I never had any definite information as to what he did with it," Pollnow said. "I got the impression that it was split at least two ways, but I don't know definitely."

Pollnow also discussed a secret escrow agreement, disclosed by the Post-Dispatch, under which Katz left $10,000 in escrow with Alex Lewis, new accounts officer of the Liberty Central Trust Co., on March 25, 1926, on condition that, if Pollnow ruled in favor of slot machines, $2000 would be paid to Attorney Edgar V. Maher and $8000 returned to Katz in Maher's presence.

Pollnow said he did not know definitely who received the $8000, although he understood that $2000 was "supposed to go to Maher as his fee." As is known, Judge Ittner issued the restraining order on March 31 and Judge Cahoun dissolved the order on April 22 when he received the case under a change of venue.

What Those Concerned Say.
Maher, who was not an attorney of record in the case, has declined to discuss the escrow agreement, standing on the confidential relationship of lawyer and client; Judge Ittner has said he had no knowledge of dealings between Maher and Katz, and Katz has stated that $3000 of the balance was paid to Maher in weekly payments and that the remaining $5000 was used by him to pay a slot machine company which was pressing him for payment of a bill.

Circuit Attorney Miller intends to let Pollnow consult his attorneys and relatives before questioning him. "He may change his mind and decide not to repeat what he told McLaughlin," Miller said. "However, we have done our duty by returning him here to serve his sentence, and anything else we get from him will be velvet."

Traced by McLaughlin.
Pollnow was convicted by a jury Oct. 26, 1926. On Dec. 15, 1928, the Supreme Court affirmed the conviction but no trace of Pollnow could be found and his $1000 bond was forfeited. Last May, when Pollnow's father died, McLaughlin was told he had telephoned from the Emerson Apartments in Kansas City but investigation showed there was no apartment by that name.

In Kansas City Thursday McLaughlin consulted a telephone book and found the Ellison Apartment-Hotel listed. Going to the apartment-hotel with Kansas City detectives, McLaughlin found Pollnow living there with his wife under his own name.

Judge Ittner was opposed by the Post-Dispatch on his record in the slot machine case when he sought re-election two years ago and was defeated at the polls.

THREE MEN HELD FOR ATTACK ON WOMAN AT DE SOTO, MO.
Young Magazine Solicitor Apparently Thrown From Automobile After Assault.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DE SOTO, Mo., July 12.—Mrs. Helen Powers, 20 years old, Grand Rapids, Mich., was found last Saturday night on a street here unconscious and in a serious condition. She had been divested of nearly all her clothing, assaulted, beaten and evidently thrown from a moving automobile. Three young men, Louis Green, Steve Boyer and Chat Aubuchon, of near Fountain Farm, Mo., are being held in the county jail at Hillsboro, pending the recovery of Mrs. Powers to answer to any charge that may be placed against them. They borrowed money from passing motorists who noticed a woman's wearing apparel in their car, and this led to their arrest. They have made written statements to the Prosecuting Attorney.

Mrs. Powers was a member of a party of four young women who arrived here recently canvassing for subscriptions to a magazine.

78-YEAR-OLD FATHER KILLS HIS DAUGHTER

Walton, N. Y., Man Gives Her Poison, Drives Ice Pick Into Her Head.

By the Associated Press.
WALTON, N. Y., July 12.—Andrew L. Beers, 78 years old, charged with the murder of his daughter, Frances, 24, has confessed, prosecuting authorities said today, that he took the young woman's life because he could not bear to see her suffer. Beers is a widower. Frances was mentally deficient.

Beers told the police he thought Frances would be better off dead, in view of the possibility that she might be committed to an asylum after his death.

Last Wednesday night he gave her poison with her food, he told officers. She became violently ill.
Beers said he could not bear to see her suffering and drove an ice pick through her head, using a monkey wrench as a hammer.

After killing his daughter, Beers walked to the home of an undertaker and said to him: "Frances is dead. I killed her, the poor little girl."

Assigned on a charge of murder,
Beers was committed to jail pending action by the grand jury.
Neighbors and friends of Beers have engaged counsel for him and are preparing to offer a plea of insanity.

SPRINGFIELD (MO.) GIRL, 10 IS KIDNAPED AND BEATEN
Taken From Home Before Dawn
While Parents Sleep;
$100 Stolen.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 12.—
Police are searching for a prowler, who entered a Springfield home before daybreak this morning and kidnaped 10-year-old Mary Lee Ellis after stealing $100 from her father's trousers.

Bound and gagged with one of her dresses, the child was carried to a nearby field and beaten. She escaped after 10 minutes and ran home. Her screams awakened her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ellis, who had slept through the robbery and abduction.

The child's face was severely bruised and physicians examined her to determine if she suffered other injuries. She was unable to describe her abductor accurately, although she thought he was a Negro.

One suspect, trailed by blood-hounds, was arrested at a neighboring home, where he was employed as a gardener, but was released after questioning.

55,000 WESTERN ELECTRIC WORKERS IN MASS VACATION
Company Calls It Probably the Largest Exodus on Record.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 12.—Fifty-five thousand employees of the Western Electric Co. left their shops and offices today for a simultaneous two-week vacation.

Among them were 30,000 employees of the Hawthorne (Ill.)
plant, 17,000 at Kearney, N. J., 2,000 at Baltimore, Md., and 4,000 scattered elsewhere over the United States.

A skeleton force will man the plants until the mass vacation ends on July 23. The company called it "probably the largest industrial vacation exodus on record. Ninety-seven per cent of the factory employees are receiving vacations with pay."

The simultaneous vacation plan was tried out last summer at the Hawthorne plant.

WOMAN WARDEN HAS CUSTODY OF NEGRO THREATENED BY MOB
Texas Slayer of White Woman Taken to Reformatory at Granite, Ok.

SHERMAN, Tex., July 12.— Rushed out of Texas because of threatened mob violence, Jesse Lee Washington, Negro, is held at the State reformatory at Granite, Ok., where officers said he confessed slaying Mrs. Henry Vaughan, white, near here yesterday. Mrs.
George A. Waters, Warden of the Granite reformatory, has custody of the Negro.

Advice from Granite says Washington confessed in the presence of District Attorney James C. Mahan and County Attorney Lee Gribble. They telephoned that all the details of the killing had been related. Mrs. Vaughan was assaulted and beaten to death with an iron pipe at her farm home.
A 3-year-old daughter witnessed the killing.

Washington was taken to Childress, Tex., yesterday after his arrest and removed from there to Holla, Ok., and thence to Granite.
A mob followed Sheriff Claude Mc-Kinney in automobiles as he sped to the Oklahoma line with the Negro, but was outdistanced.

Spiritualist Credo Read At Conan Doyle Funeral

Author Buried in Garden of Home—Widow Says No Messages From Him Are Authentic Without Her Indorsement.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1930, by the Press and Publishing Co., (the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)
LONDON, July 12.—An unusual service marked the funeral yesterday of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle at his home at Crow-borough, Sussex, when the Rev.
Charles Drayton Thomas, who delivered the funeral oration, read a tribute from Lady Doyle and other members of the family, which was a spiritualist confession of faith.

"We know it is the earthly body
we are committing to the ground,"
the statement began, continuing:
"The spiritual body is the duplicate of lives and is able, when psychic conditions are attained, even to see itself. The physical body is dead as an outward garment and is laid aside—the soul lives on forever. There is no death; only life eternal."

"Sir Arthur will continue to keep in close touch with his family, although the latter may not have the power to see his presence.
Those who have God-given extra sight—clairvoyance—may be able even to see his form, but he will,
we are assured, find ways to make his presence known to them in their daily life and so hearten them and guide them, inspiring them to prepare by their daily actions that they may worthily live
the life in the higher world."

"Living in a Higher Realm."
"Sir Arthur has gone to sleep, but he will continue his work in spreading this great knowledge which soothes the anguished heart and which is destined to change the whole outlook of human affairs. He is not dead, but living in a higher realm."

"God bless him for his beautiful and unselfish life, for his courage and fearlessness, for his never-failing championship of those suffering under injustice and for the help he gave to those who were in sorrow."

"No thought of self touched his daily life. No man more truly and faithfully walked in his Master's footsteps."

Illness prevented the presence at this unusual ceremony, in which
Dr. Thomas was assisted by Sir
Arthur's brother-in-law, the Rev.

BANKHEAD'S DAUGHTER WANTS FOURTH MARRIAGE ANNULED
Says Howard Lee, Aviator, Deceived
Her About His Wealth; Wed
12 Days Ago.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—
The Examiner says Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead-Hoyt-Butt-Lee, daughter of Congressman William B. Bankhead of Alabama, will institute annulment proceedings soon against Howard Lee, aviator, whom she married at Reno, Nev., July 1.

Terminating her last marital career
"short and sweet," Mrs. Lee declared her husband had failed to live up to her ideals. She and Lee are no longer living together, she said. Mrs. Lee is quoted as saying,
"Lee's stories of untold wealth, a famous Southern family and aviation prestige, had dimmed."

"I loved him," she said, "but I can't respect him, so I left. I don't know where he is."

Lee was his wife's third husband,
although this was her fourth marriage. In 1920 she married Morton
Hoyt, son of a former Solicitor-General of the United States. They were divorced and remarried. A second divorce held.

Lawson Butt Jr., former University of Nevada football star, was next. Mrs. Lee said she disrespected there was another Mrs. Butt and no final decree of divorce. An annulment ended that union after six months.

POLICE ON NEW TRACK IN ROADSIDE MURDER
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—
Police were perplexed today over discoveries in connection with
"George Brown, of Chicago," Canadian war veteran, whose body was found late yesterday on a country road. The first theory was that he was a victim of Chicago gangsters. Police now think he may have been killed by robbers.

Brown was reported to have told several persons at the hotel where he stayed that a large sum of money had been bequeathed him, contingent upon his paying a generous amount to some stranger.
He added that four lawyers at another hotel were trying to persuade him to leave the inheritance to charity. Police are trying to identify "Brown" by finger prints, and are investigating his statement regarding the four lawyers.

Killed by Auto in London.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 12.—Mrs. Rose Winton, 21 years old, a schoolteacher of New York City, was run down and killed by an automobile while walking with her husband here today. Winton also was knocked down, but escaped serious injury. They were spending a vacation in England.

New Orleans 2.6 feet, a fall of 0.1.

C. C. Angell, of the author's eldest son, Dennis, but Lady Doyle, her two daughters and Adrian Conan Doyle were present.

400 Attend Funeral.
In the presence of 400 persons, Sir Arthur was buried beside the little wooden hut in the garden of his house, where he did much of his work and where many of his Sherlock Holmes tales were written. A blaring sun beat down on the scene, which was strikingly void of any of the outward trappings of woe. Great masses of flowers were piled around the open grave and hung on surrounding trees. Through the windows of the house could be seen the dead man's writing pad and pen and an open ink well. There were no mourners and the blinds of the house were not drawn.

At the head of the coffin, on which rested a wreath of dark red roses from Sir Arthur's family, stood Lady Doyle holding a red rose picked for her this morning by her daughter. She held on a leash Sir Arthur's Irish terrier, which "sent a wreath in memory of his master."

Those attending the ceremony included many persons prominent in the physical research and literary worlds. Sir Gilbert Parker, chairman of the Authors' Club, motored down from London to attend.

Villagers Sing Hymns.
Sussex villagers stood around the coffin on the lawn and sang hymns, accompanied by a piano being played within the house.

At the conclusion of the service
the coffin was carried to the grave over a little bridge and through a small copse into the kitchen garden at the back of the house where stands Sir Arthur's working hut.
It is understood Lady Doyle has been distressed since her husband's death over the claims of a number of mediums that they have received psychic communications from him. Tonight Lady Doyle had the following notice circulated to all British newspapers:

"Lady Conan Doyle informs news editors that any message purporting to have come from her late husband is unauthenticated and no such message can be accepted as such unless it receives her personal indorsement."

BOMB SET OFF AT NIGHT CLUB NEAR ROCKEFELLER'S HOMES
Windows Shattered in Buildings Near Fifth Avenue, New York,
but No One Is Injured.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 12.—A bomb was set off today on a window ledge of the Simpson Social Club in Fifty-third street, a block north of the town houses of the John D.
Rockefeller, senior and junior, and only a few doors from fashionable St. Thomas Church.

The explosion was heard throughout a wide district flanking Fifth avenue. Windows were shattered in nearby buildings and the ledge on which the lead pipe bomb had been placed was torn away.

The bomb exploded at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, an hour and a half after the club had closed. The only one injured was Mrs. Betty Brayer, caretaker, and two cleaning women, who were unharmed.

Police believe the bomb was intended as a warning from extortionists. The club is a night club with a semi-private clientele.

TARDIEU WINS FOURTH VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN THREE DAYS
French Premier, Whose Term Was Originally Considered Short, Adopts Parliament.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 12.—Premier Tar-dieu, who upon accession nine months ago was considered widely to be slated for only a brief term, today was assured of continuation in office until November, when Parliament meets again.

In that time, friends of his residence hoped he would be able to himself even more strongly against the opposition, which in the past week nearly unseated him.

After gaining from the Chamber of Deputies late last evening a vote of confidence on a routine financial matter, the Premier pulled from his pocket a signed presidential decree adjourning Parliament for its summer recess.

The Premier's majority in the vote of confidence was 48, the opposition mustering only 28 votes.
It was the fourth vote of confidence he had obtained in three days; in one his majority was 66.

Radio Interference Eliminated.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—The State Department today disclosed that representatives to four foreign governments had eliminated radio interference with the Navy's stations. Germany, Japan, Great Britain and Holland, controlling the Dutch East Indies were the four offenders and readily co-operated in installing more modern equipment to eliminate the disturbance elements which clashed with American communications.

Extradition Treaty Signed.
BERLIN, July 12.—A treaty of extradition between Germany and the United States, Germany's first with any foreign Power since passage of the extradition law of 1929, today was signed by the American Ambassador, Frederic M. Sackett, and Dr. Von Buelow, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

PARIS, July 12.—Following the Bastille day custom, President Doumergue today commuted the sentences of 537 court-martialed soldiers, effective July 14. The President has 118 other cases under consideration.

GERMAN BACHELOR TAX SEEMS BEATEN

Finance Minister Dietrich Faces
Reichstag Crisis Over His Proposals.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 12.—Germany's financial program set forth by Dr. Hermann Dietrich, Minister of Finance, today encountered rough going in the Reichstag's Taxation Committee.

After a clause assessing civil employees an additional income tax, passed on Thursday, had been rejected, Dr. Dietrich practically abandoned the proposed taxes on bachelors and unmarried women, declaring it useless to proceed with a second reading in committee.

The final fight still is to come in the Reichstag, where, in view of Minister Dietrich's determination to force his program through, it is still possible that a bare majority may be found to avoid disolution and new elections.

The revised financial program,
which had the backing of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and provided a tax of about $25,000,000 on bachelors and spinsters, was put forward on June 28.

The rest of the Government deficit was to be made up by cutting 100,000,000 marks off expenditures and laying a special tax on Government employees and another on all persons whose incomes run above 5000 marks a year.

After getting his civil employes' tax through the committee, the Finance Minister found the next obstacle insurmountable. Should he propose unable to carry out his refinancing plan, he would in all probability share the fate of Minister Moldenhauer, whom he succeeded recently. Today's eventing Dr. Dietrich's first intimation that serious opposition would confront any part of his program.

WARRANTS AGAINST 3 OFFICERS OF MARSHFIELD (MO.) BANK
All Accused of Receiving Deposits
When Knowing Depository
Had Failed.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 12.—
Warrants for the arrest of three officers of the Farmers' Exchange Bank of Marshfield, Webster County, which closed June 9, were sworn out yesterday by E. W.
Mills, prosecuting attorney of Webster County. Those accused, all charged with receiving deposits when they knew the bank was in a failing condition, are Silas A.
Killian, president; John W. Phillip, assistant cashier and J. M. Bohannon, cashier.

The State examiners' inventory shows the bank held state deposits totaling $152,182. Total security pledged against the State deposits was $146,162. Of the security, $100,000 was first mortgage bonds of the Pierre Chaumont, an apartment building in St. Louis. The rest of the security consisted of $18,625 in miscellaneous notes and the remainder in other bonds.

Examiners reported they had been informed that State Treasurer Larry Brunk had authorized issue of a deed of trust for $10,000 signed by Charles I. Moore as additional security for the state deposit. But they said the deed of trust never was listed on the bank's books.

The Marshfield bank had total resources of $340,000 when it closed. Among the assets examiners found a note for $500 of a recent date signed by a Webster County minister who two years ago was a deacon.

They pointed out an insane person was incompetent to sign such an obligation.

HOLDUP SUSPECT IDENTIFIED IN STORE AND BAR ROBBERIES
Ralph Brindley Accused of Getting $2419 Loot in Two Places;
Denies Charges.

Ralph Brindley, 27 years old, of 1501 Montgomery street, arrested by Dayton street police last night for investigation, was identified as a holdup man by the victims of two recent robberies, but Brindley denied the charges.

George E. Poertner, jeweler at 3941 North Florissant avenue, said Edward E. May had robbed him of his jewelry store May 26, taking $61 in cash and jewelry valued at $1608.

John Marre, saloon keeper, 3732
St. Louis avenue, said Brindley was one of two men who obtained $50
in cash and jewelry valued at $700
in a holdup of the saloon Thursday night. Ely Harris, taxicab driver, said Brindley was one of two men who rode in his cab from Fifteenth street and St. Louis avenue to the saloon.

BANKRUPTCY SCHEDULE FILED Glueck Box Co. Has $36,791 Assets, $29,637 Liabilities.
Twenty-second street, filed schedules in Bankruptcy Court yesterday showing assets of $36,791 and liabilities of $29,637. The assets include real estate valued at $13,500, 695, but mortgaged for $20,800.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court Thursday by Beatrice F. Rehnert, president. Directors stated the action was taken because the company was no longer able to meet its obligations and because the future offered no prospects for betterment.

COMELY GIANTS FOUND ON ISLE IN SOUTH SEAS

Ship Captain Says 4000 Inhabitants Subsist on Fish and Coconuts.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—A story about an unexplored island in the South Seas where the temperature averages 55 degrees the year around and which is populated by tall women and men "as handsome as any I ever have seen,"
was brought here today by the captain of a tramp steamer.

C. N. Olsen, master of the freighter Golden Eagle, told how he steamed 800 miles off his course to take five white adventures from Sydney, Australia, to the island, which is 22 miles long and narrow. It is only four feet above sea level and at high tide is partly submerged. Despite the small area, there were at least 4000 inhabitants. Because of the absence of soil there are no fruits or vegetables grown, the people subsisting on fish and coconuts.

"What impressed us most," said
the captain, "was the rugged beauty and seeming vitality of the natives.
They appeared to be a mixture of Malaysian and Polynesian. The men were giants in stature and the women tall and slender."

"At dinner time each family gathered around a huge sea shell containing about 10 gallons of coconut and fish mush. With hand-carved ladles they dipped freely into the family bowl. After dinner we were entertained by the village orchestra."

39-Story Kansas City Building.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—A contract for the erection of a 32-story bank and office building for the Fidelity National Bank and Trust Co. was signed here yesterday. Work on the structure, which is to cost $2,000,000, is scheduled to be started about Aug.
15, and completed in one year.

Talkie Patent Agreement.
PARIS, July 12.—Announcement was made today that a satisfactory basis for settlement of German-American difficulties over sound picture apparatus patents was reached today by Will Hays, the German movie industry and representatives of electrical companies.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 12.—John M.
Princetti, 46 years old, Chicago, obtained $100,000 damages yesterday by verdict of a Superior Court jury in his suit against the Electric Greyhound Motor Bus Co. He suffered a fracture of the spine when he said, a bus in which he was riding between Omaha, Neb., and Kansas City, Mo., hit a rut and he was thrown from his seat. Court attaches said the verdict was the largest ever awarded in an Illinois court for a personal injury claim.

The accident was on a hillside near Auburn, Neb., Princetti told the jury. He was taken to a Kansas City hospital, then brought to Chicago. The accident occurred
Aug. 10, 1929.

IS SUED FOR $100,000 Portrait Painters' Gallery Charges Artist Failed to Keep Agreement.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A suit for $100,000 against Howard Chandler Christy brought by the Portrait Painters' Gallery was disclosed yesterday when the artist's counsel filed a motion to dismiss.
The motion alleged there were insufficient facts to sustain the action.

The suit was based on an alleged verbal agreement whereby the gallery was to obtain wealthy persons who wanted their portraits painted and Christy was to charge them not less than $400 each, giving the gallery one-third.

Gallant Fox Wins $70,000 Classic At Arlington Track

By the Associated Press.
ARLINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, July 12.—Gallant Fox won the $70,000 Arlington classic by a head from Gallant Knight in 2:02 4-5. The distance was a mile and a quarter. Ned O was third in the field of six.

Gallant Fox went to the post a 1 to 2 favorite in the betting, but paid $2.44 to win in the 12 months. Hands gave Gallant Fox a mastery ride, but at the end he was forced to use every resource at his command to keep his mount in front of Gallant Knight, which was receiving a wonderful ride from the younger Schutte.

Cochrane sent a long fly to Badgro.

BROWNS—Schlag went in to catch for the Athletics. Goslin filed to Simmons. Stiles filed to Haas. McNulty walked. O'Rourke filed to Simmons.

EIGHTH—ATHLETICS—Simmons' first hit of the game was a double against the left field fence. Simmons went to third on a wild pitch. Fox fouled to Ferrell. Melillo threw out Miller. Simmons scored. ### CHAMPION SHOOTS 68, NEW COURSE RECORD, FOR HIS THIRD ROUND

INTERLACHEN CLUB, MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—Bobby Jones, with 287, won the National Open golf tournament.

By the Associated Press.
INTERLACHEN CLUB, MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 12.—Bobby Jones, as a result of a record breaking 68 for his third round and a 54 hole total of 212 strokes, started his final round today with a substantial lead in the defense of his national open golf championship.

Bobby was five strokes ahead of Harry Cooper and six below Horton Smith and Johnny Golden, as he started out. Cooper shot 73 today while Horton Smith fell apart with a 76 and lost not only his two strike margin of yesterday, but six more.

Jones' Final Round.
At the outset of his fourth round, with apparently every spectator on the links flocking around him, Jones hit a perfect drive but skinned the edge of a bunker with his iron second, the ball stopping five feet short of the green. He nearly clipped the hole in, missing by six inches and taking par 4.

With the wind at his back, Bobby boomed a 275-yard drive up the second fairway, then his second straight, but too strong. From the back edge of the green he putted four feet past the pin and missed, taking a one over par. It was his first 3-putt green of the day.

On the 116-yard third, Jones fired his tee shot to a bowl-like trap short of the green and barely got out to the edge of the carpet. From 15 feet he putted 5 feet short and again missed as he took a bad 5. He was 3 over par for the three holes.

Two fine wood shots placed Jones three feet short of the 166-yard fourth green. He chipped six inches from the hole to clinch a birdie 4 and recover some lost ground.

The champion's tee shot on the 173-yard fifth dropped, 25 feet from the pin. The putt was a few inches off line, but he got his three easily.

Three Fars in a Row.
From a bad side hill lie on his tee shot on the 113-yard sixth Jones shot his second into a shallow trap to the left of the green. He came out to within a foot of the cup, to card his par four.

A fine drive, on the 332-yard seventh left Jones an easy pitch that was but 10 feet from the hole. The putt just missed the birdie and he had another par four.

On the 397-yard eighth Bob pitched 12 feet from the pin, but his putt for a birdie stopped on the lip and he had another par four.

Jones Gets Par 4.
Bobby had to one-putt the first green to get his par 4. He spoke the hole in the cup down the middle, but his second was short. He pitched eight feet from the cup and sank it.

Jones' putter, "Calamity Jane," failed in the pinch on the 276-yard second and Bobby had to take a par 4. His drive hooked to the right. He pitched out prettily, eight feet from the pin, and his putt stuck on the lip.

The 166-yard third was just another hole to Bobby. He was on in one and took two putts from 20 feet for this third par. The ball hit the cup. Bobby's constant flirtation with birdies finally succeeded on the 164-yard fourth. His approach was short but he pitched his third 12 feet from the cup and "Calamity Jane" came through. The ball hit the hole. Bobby's third birdie.

The "bird" put Bobby one under par.

On the 433-yard ninth, Jones spotted a great drive, by overshooting the green by 50 yards, to the putting practice course in front of the clubhouse. He chipped back to 30 feet from the pin. Bob barely touched the tee for the birdie and got his par 3.

Far out. 445 334 445—35 Jones out. 555 435 445—34

An airplane flying low overhead failed to affect Jones on the tenth. He pitched his second 11-foot from the pin and holed out in par 4. With a strong cross-wind blowing, Jones' tee shot deflected to the right on the 454-yard eleventh, leaving him a tough carry over

3 NATIONS A
IN TOURNAM
AT MONTEVI

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay—South America's largest stadium, now completed, will host the referee's whistle for the first time in the world's championship tournament here Sunday. Teams from 16 South American and European countries will compete for the title of world champions in the tournament, the first to be held in South America. The stadium, which will be named Montevideo's $300,000 bowl, built to accommodate 100,000 spectators. Construction began in 1928 following the decision of the International Congress of Football at Barcelona to hold the 1930 world championship. The stadium was finished last week. The tournament will be announced in the near future.

Competition will be representing the United States, Mexico, Belgium, France, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, and Uruguay.

Playing on their home ground, Uruguayans are locally favorites. Their two Olympic triumphs won at Paris in 1924 and Amsterdam in 1928 have made the kickers of this tiny country the spotlight of the soccer world. Their rivals in the final Olympic were the Argentinians. The rivalry between these two countries is expected to reach a high mark of interest in the 1932 Olympic.

Playing will be on a regional basis. In the opening Sunday the United States and Mexico meets. While the various South American teams are more or less unknown, each other's strength, little is known of the American, Mexican and Canadian entries.

The various sections of the tournament have been named "Amsterdam," "Columbia," "America." The tower, dedicated as a memorial to the Olympic games.

DOCTORS TELL OF TEST IN DELAYING BIRTH

Better Development Noted in Rats and Sterility Is Overcome.

COLD SPRINGS HARBOR, N. Y., July 12.—A method for having animals born "older" and less helpless than is now the case was disclosed yesterday at the Cold Springs Harbor Biological Laboratory.

Births are delayed, and apparently to the benefit of the young, by an extract of corpus luteum, a sex hormone. Location of this extract was announced at these laboratories a year ago, and some of its results were made public at a lecture before a gathering of scientists yesterday.

Delaying births gives scientists a means of investigating why some young are born almost entirely helpless, and others are able to care for themselves almost from the first. The extract also shows results in overcoming sterility.

The experiments with the hormone were described by Dr. Reginald G. Harris, director of the laboratory, and by Dr. George W. Corner of the Rochester (N. Y.) Medical School. Dr. Harris, with Dr. J. J. Effner of the laboratory, released one of the corpus luteum extracts a year ago, while Dr. Corner and Willard M. Allen isolated the other. Both seem to be of equal purity and similar effect.

Dr. Harris said the birth of rats had been delayed as much as 20 per cent. Those whose birth is delayed are larger, the heaviest one being nearly 48 per cent above the average natal weight.

"These young," said Dr. Harris, "were normal except for the casual observation that their co-ordinating processes were better developed than in ordinary new-born rats. Some new-born animals are extremely helpless, and this is true of rats, mice and kittens. The rats are normally unable to support their own weight upon their legs, and cannot move around except as their mother moves them.

"But these young of delayed birth could support their weight to a certain extent. They would come up on their forelegs, although they could not walk. The indications are that their added development during the delay of birth was the same as would have been growth after normal time birth.

"We have had seven female rats with had reproduction records. In all cases they gave birth to young after corpus luteum was given them. These experiments, it should be understood, were upon rats and we do not claim anything for the effects of corpus luteum on sterility of other animals. It has not been tried on others for this purpose. Furthermore it is not the only factor that affects reproduction in animals."

Dr. Corner told of experiments with the hormone upon rabbits.

WILBUR SEEKING CO-OPERATIVE AGREEMENTS IN OIL FIELDS

Secretary of Interior Goes to California to Try Out New Method of Development.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary Wilbur is en route to California with congressional authority to sign co-operative agreements for the development of the Kettleman Hills oil field—a plan he hopes will be adopted generally by producers with a resultant "stupendous conservation of a great national resource."

The co-operative development plan for this field as tentatively outlined by a committee of independent producers, he said, would be one of his chief studies on his Western trip.

Legislation enacted in the closing days of Congress at the request to the Secretary, permits him, together with leases of Government lands, to enter into co-operative development agreements, as opposed to individual operations, to eliminate wasteful competitive development. Wilbur expressed confidence that the plan can now be consummated, with an ultimate saving in the Kettleman Hills field of $1,000,000,000.

60 NEGRO GOLD STAR MOTHERS SAIL TO VISIT SONS' GRAVES

Depart for France on American Merchant, Following Reception at New York City Hall.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Sixty Negro Gold Star mothers embarked at Hoboken on the S. S. American Merchant today for France, to visit the graves of their sons.

Among them was Mrs. Lucy M. Johnson, art teacher in the Negro branch of the Pittsburgh Y. W. C. A., whose son, Howard, was in the first contingent of Negro boys sent overseas.

"I had to come, for my sake as well as for father's," she said to-day. "Father's walked the floor most of the time since Howard was killed. They dumped on a cable that carried 100,000 volts, after he had come safely through all the rest of it.

"We'd expected him to do wonderful things for his race. He was a man—that's all. He never even unfolded his exemption papers that he carried. He was a hero in the postoffice. We found them all folded up in his blue shirt when it was sent home."

The mothers who sailed today were given a reception yesterday at the City Hall—the first reception given any of the mothers since the one for the first contingent.

New York Woman Seeks Annulment; Other Made Honey-moon Trip.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A matrimonial tangle in which a young woman married her sister's sweetheart, was disclosed at the County Clerk's office in Brooklyn yesterday.

Counsel for Audrey Baker Sherry, a showgirl, filed a summons and complaint in an action to annul her marriage to Ernest Sherry. She said she married Sherry Jan. 23, as a favor to her sister, Nedra Baker, who is a clothing model and couldn't spare the time for the ceremony.

The legal papers further stated that Nedra, in whose name the ceremony was held, later left with Sherry on a honeymoon.

GEN. FECHT SAYS ARMY WILL IMPROVE SCOTT FIELD

Air Corps Chief Declares Station Is Valued Highly; Files Here From Washington.

The army considers Scott Field one of the finest military bases in the country and will develop it for both lighter-than-air and heavier-than-air craft as rapidly as appropriations will permit, said Major-General James E. Fecht yesterday on arrival to take part in the dedication of Lambert-St. Louis Field.

Gen. Fecht, chief of the Air Corps, was met by a group headed by Maj. Albert Bond Lambert when he arrived at the field from Washington in a Curtiss-Falcon biplane piloted by Lieut. E. R. Quessada. The plane belongs to Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis, Governor-General of the Philippines.

POLICE RAIDER TELLS OF CARROLL SCANTIES

Capt. Coy on Stand Two Hours at Hearing of New York Show Girls.

By Leased Wire, From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A return engagement of the expurgated scene 12 of Earl Carroll's "Vanities" was played yesterday, with Acting Police Captain James J. Coy in the witness chair in Jefferson Market Court, without orchestra, back drops or other props. He recounted how Jimmy Savo, comedian, put his heart in his work when learning to undress a was model—really a live show girl—and the crowded courtroom guffawed, and Magistrate Gottlieb ordered it cleared for the second time.

Capt. Coy stole the show away from Earl Carroll, Savo and the eight beauties, whose performance he raided last Wednesday. And it is probable that he may steal it away from another Broadway production, the Shubert "Artists and Models," playing at the Majestic Theater.

For yesterday Leo Shubert injected himself into the already troubled "Vanities" situation by declaring that Carroll has "killed" one of his favorite acts, and obtaining from Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valentine an order directing Carroll to show cause why an injunction should not issue against his use of the undersea ballet in the "Vanities."

It was announced that Coy would visit the "Artists and Models" show to see if it contained any objectionable features.

Coy held the stage for two hours at the court session. Suddenly Magistrate Gottlieb adjourned the hearing until next Tuesday.

It had been a session at which threats of the workhouse for the laughter alternated with suppressed laughter from the spectators.

The courtroom also witnessed a full account of how "shocked" Capt. Coy was at Jimmie Savo's stage business, and the "raw lines" with which the Police Department think the "Vanities" is punctuated.

The first thing the police officer objected to, he told the Court, was the nudity of Faith Bacon in her fan dance. The curtain in this scene went up, he related, on a group of young women lying down and waving ostrich fans—the "Field of Daisies." Enter Faith, wearing two huge white fans as she executed the steps of her dance.

It was a pretty dance, Coy admitted, but when the dancer turned her back to the audience he observed that she was totally nude.

"From the top of her head to her heels, she was absolutely nude," the Captain reiterated several times upon being questioned by Louis J. Vorhaus, attorney for Carroll.

On cross-examination, he admitted that he wore glasses to read, that he sat in row F in the theater, that the stage was darkened, and that a thin gauze curtain separated the daisies and dancer from the audience.

"But I know and can swear that to my knowledge, defendant Bacon was nude," he persisted.

The police censor denied that Faith Bacon was clothed in flesh-colored tights, as the defense contended. He also shrugged his shoulders in bored fashion when the defense sought to bring out that Capt. Coy had never seen Isadora Duncan or other famous dancers who appeared nude, and didn't "really understand interpretative dancing," to quote defense attorneys.

"I saw Pavlova once," he countered, "and she didn't appear without costume. Faith Bacon was absolutely nude. I was shocked—in long years on Broadway I never saw anything like it."

LAVA COVERS WEST ZONE OF MT. VESUVIUS CRATER

Threatens to Pour Into "Valley of Inferno; Little Uncertainty Felt.

NAPLES, Italy, July 12.—The lava which has been flowing for five days in Mount Vesuvius has invaded the whole western zone of the crater, which has a diameter of about half a mile. It reached the northeast, over which it threatened to pour into the "Valley of the Inferno."

The flow, issuing from two great fountains, has been, however, so tranquil as to cause only slight uneasiness at the Vesuvius observatory. There have been few explosions and only a small quantity of gas.

Car Ignites When Belleville Child Is Playing in It.

Douglas, 7-year-old son of Belville Hartenstein, a miner of Belleville, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital there last night of burns suffered yesterday, when his father's automobile was destroyed by fire.

The child went alone to the garage at the rear of his home and was playing in the rear seat of the car when the fire started. The cause could not be determined.

VIOLINIST WHO KILLED SWEETHEART ALSO DIES

Roderic Meakle, Patron, N. J., Said to Have Shot Her and Self in Auto.

By the Associated Press.

FATHERSON, N. J., July 12.—Roderic Meakle, 22-year-old violinist, who killed Miss Jennie Brauer, 22, in a death pact, died yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Meakle was found staggering through the underbrush near Echo Lake close by the car where the girl's body was found.

An investigation showed that Meakle was married, and that his wife had refused to give him up for Miss Brauer, who won honors in Germany, her native country, as a swimmer.

Meakle became conscious for a moment Thursday, opened his eyes and said: "Tomorrow, I am going to see my father and mother." A few days ago, while semiconscious, he was overheard to mutter, "She made me do it."

Meakle was the son of William R. Meakle, bank president, of Hildwood.

Goebel Cancels Ocean Flight

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—Col. Arthur Goebel, trans-Pacific flyer, yesterday announced cancellation of plans for a proposed flight this summer from Paris to New York.

Failure of the "Yankee Doodle," specially built, low-winged monoplane, to travel faster than 157 1/2 miles an hour in load tests, Goebel said, resulted in his decision to abandon the effort for this year.

NO REPORT ON WET AND DRY INQUIRY

Senate Lobby Committee to Do Nothing Until After Election.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Senate Lobby Committee had decided for the present, to file no report on its investigation of "wet" and "dry" organizations. After rendering partial reports on virtually every major phase of its prolonged inquiry, the committee has resolved to say nothing about its quizzing prohibition and anti-prohibition workers until after the fall campaign. Consequently, the conclusions reached by the committee from its questioning of F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon League, Davis Fickert of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and Henry H. Curran of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, will be withheld until a time when they cannot be employed in the Congressional elections.

Since four of the five members of the committee are confirmed "drys," the natural inference is that they believe a report of their findings would tend to harm candidates who are running on dry platforms. Much of the testimony bore upon the methods adopted by

WELL, ANYWAY, IT'S NOT OUT IN THE COLD

The goods from the secondhand store of O. L. Boerner at 1404 Pine street, moved onto the sidewalk after eviction proceedings, brought for rent for the property which is owned by the City. Boerner, who saw a constable move his property, is himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Constable in the Ninth District.
